

CHATTAHOOCHEE HILLS COMMUNITY UPDATE

April 15, 2011 | Promoting Active & Informed Citizenship in Chattahoochee Hills

Just a short edition this week – to make up for the hugely long ones from the past several weeks!

NEIGHBOR TO NEIGHBOR

Easter Egg Hunt Volunteers & Candy/Egg Donations Needed

From Monica Olsen, Chatt Hills Charter School

We need your help to volunteer for the 1st Annual Easter Egg Hunt & Fundraiser supporting the Chattahoochee Hills Charter School. The event is Saturday, April 23rd. We will need volunteers in 2-hour shifts between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on the 23rd.

Volunteer opportunities include helping staff the ticket tables, logistics/parking/safety, organizing the egg hunts, refreshment table and sales and staffing the prize table. We also need donations of plastic eggs and candy. On your next trip to Kroger/Publix/Target/Wal-Mart etc., pick up a bag of plastic eggs (about $5 for 150 eggs) and Easter candy (preferably individually wrapped and no chocolates since they melt), and drop them off (pre-stuffed would be great!) at Karen & Tom Reed's front porch at 9147 Selborne Lane between now and Tuesday, April 19th.

This is an exciting opportunity to bring the community together for an afternoon of fun, while raising money for the charter school. We thank you for your help and plastic egg/candy donations! Please respond to this email or the organizing lead if you are available and also note the volunteer area.

Details on the Easter Egg Hunt

There will be three Egg Hunts: Children under 3, Children 4-7 and Children 8-12. Families will arrive between 11:30 a.m. and Noon. Egg Hunts start at approximately 12:15 p.m. and will be held at the Serenbe ball fields behind The Hil restaurant, next to the playground and tennis courts.

Admission is $5.00 per child. There will be refreshments, candy and prizes from the Serenbe Business Association. All proceeds will benefit CHCS.

I wanted to pass along this letter that I received from friend and neighbor Melea Brett

Dear friends and neighbors,

The 40 year old observance of "Earth Day" will occur on April 22. I admit that I had never even heard of Earth Day until my college days, and have never truly done all that much to participate in any activities surrounding the day. But this year, I am doing something new and want you to join me:

Help me observe Earth Day by making a financial contribution to the Chattahoochee Hills Charter School, our new school whose motto is "Learning is in our Nature." We have all had the opportunity to learn about the school; how wonderful it will be for our children, how it will help our community . . . but the school's success depends on us! We must take part in ensuring that everything we have promised our future generations of citizens comes true. Perhaps you do not have children or grandchildren who will attend CHCS, but I am certain you know someone who will. In these economic times, it is easy to deny financial support to a charity or special cause. We have all changed our habits in some ways. However, if Greg and I eat at home one night instead of going out, I could easily contribute $25.00 to the school. And I know that many can do more. Won't you help if you can, as you can?

Thank you for considering my request for celebrating Earth Day 2011 in a different way . . . and helping our children know we want the very best for them. Please make your checks payable to "Chattahoochee Hills Charter School" and mail to 9110 Selborne Lane, Suite 200, Chattahoochee Hills, GA 30268, or you can easily pay online at www.chatthillscharter.org.

Thanks, Melea

Adopt-a-Mile Report

From Tom Reed

Last weekend's Adopt-a-Mile cleanup may have not been as well attended as previous events, but in part it's because we've become a victim of our own success! Past events brought out dozens of helpers and collected hundreds of bags of garbage – much of it a resolute of previous years of neglect. The improvement in the average condition of our roadsides has been so amazing and obvious – both because of Molcie Trimble and her band of volunteers, and because of many neighbors who are now doing weekly patrols of their own for spot-maintenance on various roads around town. We owe them all a great deal of gratitude for their hard work (and I'll be bold here: Molcie – and all of the rest: THANK YOU!) This spring, the group focused on Campbellton Redwine Rd., where they picked up 34 bags of trash.

Molcie also reminded me that this Saturday (the 16th) is amnesty day, and she needs people will come out for that. The City's maintenance crew has picked up bulk trash and tires on the roadsides and will have it at City Hall, so we will need help getting that transferred to the dump sites. Please email molcietrimble@bellsouth.net or phone 770-463-4462 if you can help.

Emergency Preparedness and You

From the CDC (First in a Series)

The possibility of public health emergencies arising in the United States concerns many people in the wake of recent hurricanes, tsunamis, acts of terrorism, and the threat of pandemic influenza. Though some people feel it is impossible to be prepared for unexpected events, the truth is that taking preparedness actions helps people deal with disasters of all sorts much more effectively when they do occur. To help, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the American Red Cross have teamed up to answer common questions and provide step by step guidance you can take now to protect you and your loved ones.

Emergency Preparedness and Response – Step One: Get a Kit / Gather Emergency Supplies

If disaster strikes your community, you might not have access to food, water, or electricity for some time. By taking time now to prepare emergency water supplies, food supplies and disaster supplies kit, you can provide for your entire family.

Even though it is unlikely that an emergency would cut off your food supplies for two weeks, consider maintaining a supply that will last that long.

You may not need to go out and buy foods to prepare an emergency food supply. You can use the canned goods, dry mixes, and other staples on your cupboard shelves.

Having an ample supply of clean water is a top priority in an emergency. A normally active person needs to drink at least 2 quarts (a half gallon) of water each day. You will also need water for food preparation and hygiene. Store at least an additional half-gallon per person, per day for this.

Store at least a 3-day supply and consider storing a two-week supply of water for each member of your family. If you are unable to store this much, store as much as you can. You can reduce the amount of water your body needs by reducing activity and staying cool. And don't forget to take your pets and service animals into account!

Radon Basics: What Homeowners Need to Know

Written by John Voket; forwarded by Gregory Rusch

Every year about this time, I launch into Radon Awareness mode. Since January is National Radon Awareness Month, consumers, renters, homeowners, and those who hope to be in 2011 need to know a few things about this colorless, odorless health threat to you and your family. (Ed: This is particularly important in Chatt Hills because of the amount of Granite under many of our homes).

There's also a lot to be excited about in 2011 because the home building industry is beginning to react to the need for radon safe homes, especially in areas of the country like ours known for concentrations of radon.

Our series of Radon Awareness segments for 2011 kicks off with some basics. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA):

- Radon is a naturally occurring, radioactive gas found in soil and rock. It seeps into homes through cracks in the foundation, walls, and joints. In some parts of the country, groundwater can be a major source of radon.
- All homes should be tested for radon.
- Among non-smokers, radon is the leading cause of lung cancer in the United States. Lung cancer due to radon exposure claims about 21,000 U.S. lives annually, based on EPA estimates.
- In many cases lung cancer can be prevented; this is especially true for radon-related lung cancer.
- Using common materials and straightforward techniques, builders can construct new homes that are resistant to radon entry.

Now for a little science lesson: the EPA says the average indoor radon level is about 1.3 picocuries per liter (pCi/L) in air in the United States, while the average outdoor level is about 0.4 pCi/L.

Anyone interested in finding a qualified radon service professional to test or mitigate your home, where to obtain or purchase a radon test kit, or ask questions about a radon measurement device or radon mitigation system, contact your state Radon Contact. That person or office will help determine what are, or whether there are, requirements associated with providing radon measurement and or radon mitigations/reductions in your state.

Some states maintain lists of contractors available in their state or they have proficiency programs or requirements of their own. Or just link to your state and other resources through www.epa.gov/radon.
